

HUNT "COLLUSION" IN SURPLUS DEALS

Red Cross war fund drive opens this week

Along side the blue and gold service stars in windows of the homes throughout the nation shortly another symbol of service will appear—the Red Cross contributor's emblem.

Signifying families' participation in the drive for $200,000,000—the national goal—the crimson cross will be distributed by more than 3,000,000 volunteers throughout the nation, going from home to home, pushing toward this year's goal. These solicitors will remind 1944 participants in the drive of what their contributions did last year, and will familiarize newcomers to the community with the job that lies ahead for Red Cross this year.

When the Red Cross solicitor leaves each home, he hopes to have another contributor signed on the "dotted line" of the Red Cross membership card. Then the contributor's emblem will go up in the window, and another family will have done its part to help put the '45 drive over the top.

Each volunteer will carry with him credentials indicating his official connection with the drive. Contributors to the 1945 Red Cross Fund will also receive the little lapel flag, symbolic of their alliance with the organization which now has more than 10,000 workers overseas helping to maintain the comfort and morale of our men and women on the fighting fronts and in battle zones.

Set further safeguards for used car buyers

Any citizen who pays an over-riding price for a used automobile for non-business use incurs no liability under OPA regulations and may obtain a refund of as much as three times the amount of the overcharge.

That the liability is placed on the seller is made plain by an amendment to regulations effective March 1. It provided that every used car purchaser must fill out a statement form regarding the facts of the purchase and which tells him of the refund rights under price control regulations.

"Help the OPA help you," is the appeal made to used car buyers in requesting that they fill out these statements.

Other points of the amendment, pertaining chiefly to dealers, are:

1. Defines a vehicle in "good operating condition."
2. States that failure to comply with the "good operating condition" provision is definitely a violation.
3. Says that a dealer is in violation if, when he refuses to comply with a warranty, he also refuses to refund 50 per cent of the cost of repairing.
4. Declares that prices must be reduced 50 per cent of list price if standard equipment is missing.
5. States that a seller who applies for authorization to sell warranted cars must include a copy of his service supplier contract.
6. Provides a service supplier must guarantee the making of repairs or replacements.
7. Provides that a finder's fee may not be paid if the sum of the sales base price and the fee exceeds the maximum price.
8. Requires all cars on display to be tagged.
9. Says that certificates of transfer are now signed by seller only but a dealer purchaser must also sign the reverse of the certificate of transfer.
10. Requires that a certificate of transfer contain a warning of criminal penalties for false statement.
11. Defines "adequate repairing facilities."

Find answers to school legislation

Interested Arlington Heights people who went to the Town Meeting held Monday evening at North School to discuss "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?" were given many facts and much information on the basic needs of our schools today and what is being and must be done to meet these needs.

Mr. N. M. Latoff, elementary school board president, outlined the needs. Mr. James Pease, LaGrange, superintendent and Miss Susan Scully, state director of the National Education Association, talked on the state and federal measures required to meet them.

Palatine Douglas worker passes bus, kills 9 year old boy

William Harris, 9 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harris of Morse and Lee streets, south of Des Plaines, was fatally injured February 15 when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Gantagna, 50, of Palatine, a Douglas worker. According to the Morton Grove highway police who were called, the accident occurred when Gantagna passed a bus, from which the boy had just left in front of his home. Gantagna was released under $200 cash bond.

Attend police school every Wednesday at Glenview

Geo. Whittenberg, Mt. Prospect police chief, is among the local police officers who are taking advantage of the police schools that are being held in the Metropolitan area under the auspices of the Illinois Police Association. Classes are held at Glenview every Friday in the afternoon and evening, allowing officers to attend either of the lessons.

The lessons cover twelve branches of a policeman's duty. Last week's sessions were on the use of fire arms. This week it is "disarming methods and defensive tactics." Next week is "securing confessions and signed statements."

Farmers war meetings next week

First session at Prospect Heights school March 2

The first of a series of Farmers' War Meetings under the direction of the Cook County Farm Bureau will be held for Wheeling township at Prospect Heights school house this Friday evening. The meetings are being held in many Cook County communities in cooperation with the Illinois Agricultural College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Subsequent meetings in this area are:

Palatine—Palatine High School, Monday, March 5, 8 p. m.
Elk Grove—Elk Grove School, Tuesday, March 6, 8 p. m.
Hanover—Bartlett Public School, Wednesday, March 7, 8 p. m.
Barrington—Barrington Center School, Thursday, March 8, 8 p. m.
Schaumburg—Nieman's Hall, Friday, March 9, 8 p. m.
"As Cook county is going into a program of eradication of Bang's Disease," states Farm Adviser C. A. Hughes, "we are outlining the plans that a farmer may elect. All mastitis control which is a problem in every dairy herd is described in a film from the University of Illinois on clean milk production. A number of farm women will like to know how to home pasteurize milk which will also be described.

"A new soil testing service which will aid farmers to bring their soils up to maximum production is also outlined for these meetings. There is entertainment by a film made by Walt Disney on hybrid seed corn and when Walt Disney makes a film it is always good."

Henry L. Moelling, chairman of Palatine township committee and Mrs. Louis Rohde, co-chairman are issuing a special invitation to all farmers of that area to attend the Farmers War Meeting to be held Monday evening at the Palatine Township high school.

"These farmers war meetings," states Mr. Moelling, "are held to help the farmers meet their problems of how to keep up maximum production in war time and many interesting experiences and discussions are brought out by the meetings."

All farmers are urged to be present whether or not they are members of any farm organization.

This is an open meeting and the committee hopes that all farmers will attend and take part in the discussions.

"The ladies of the Home Bureau," states Mrs. Rohde, "will serve coffee and doughnuts after the Palatine meeting and everyone is cordially invited to come out and enjoy an instructive and social evening."

Police chief's son given first aid by fire squad

George Skoog, 8, son of Arlington Heights police chief was severely burned last Friday. Because a physician could not be immediately secured, Frank Jain, head of the Firemen First Aid squad, administered tannic acid and later assisted Dr. Elfeld in bandaging the boy.

George had been painting some toys in the basement of his house and when he threw into the furnace the fluid that he used to clean the brushes there was an explosion that resulted in second degree burns upon his face.

Need we say more?
An accordion purchased and a farm rented are two records set by Paddock Publications want ads in the past two weeks.

Advertiser who wanted to buy the instrument reports, "After many months of searching I decided to place an ad in your Herald for the ladies accordion. I received several answers and found just the instrument for which I was looking."

Second advertiser reports, "farm was rented from first insertion of ad. . . We received fifteen replies."

Still a third "true story" comes from an advertiser seeking to sell a 6 room house. "I received the first call Thursday afternoon. The house was sold by Saturday. At least 8 others called in regard to the ad. My hat's off to your want-ad department."

And on the other side of the fence: "I advertised for a place to rent and received 0 answers. To well, our average is still good."

An invitation to the Girl Scout fair

If all these years you have been boiling and baking potatoes and have never thought of how handsome they might be if you applied a little makeup, some curls and eyelashes, or a mustache and a monocle and used them as potato head puppets.

If you've been saving your paper sacks for groceries and garbage but have never tried pinching out two ears and a nose, painting some eyes and adding a bit of crepe paper here and there to produce Red Riding Hood and the Wolf or Snow White and the Dwarfs.

If you've heard some talk about
"Strooping a Fly" or "Walking an Elephant", in fact
If you've ever wondered just what Girl Scouts and Brownie Scouts do, what this organization stands for and what it hopes to accomplish, you'll want to be at the Field House promptly at 7:30 on Friday, March 9, for on that evening the 200 Brownies and Scouts of Arlington Heights will have a "Girl Scout Fair".

This fair will be the Girl Scouts annual report to the community.
The presentation of the Juliette
Low pennies by some representative from each troop will be made.

These pennies are used to help promote friendship among the Girl Scouts and Girl Guides of different countries.
In the different rooms at the Field House will be booths set up so you can see a model meeting in progress, spatter printing, G. S. games, crafts, folk dancing, impromptu dramatics, puppets, cooking and table setting, camp craft and last but by no means least, child care. So bring the little ones along and leave them at the child care booth and enjoy the other activities knowing your child is well taken care of.

At 9 p. m. the senior "Girl"
Scouts are presenting "A Hiking
We Will Go", a skit written and produced by the girls themselves.
Invitations have been sent to the Girl Scouts and other youth organizations.

Wheeling home bureau meets

The Wheeling Home Bureau Unit held their monthly meeting Thursday, February 22, at the home of Mrs. Harold Bingham on Dundee rd. Mrs. Marie Cornelius, home advisor, gave an excellent lesson on "Happiness Through Right Mental Health." She explained the causes and effects of unhappiness and how through a deeper understanding of ourselves and others, we can enjoy a life of happiness.

Mrs. Donald Stockdale concluded her talk on Chinese women and before closing read some recipes from a Chinese cook book which proved most interesting, especially the one on bird's nest soup. The new officers for the coming year are Mrs. Howard Bingham, chairman; Mrs. Harry Robinson, vice chairman, and Mrs. Wilburt Pohlman, secretary.

John Beatty to tell of plant wizard at club

John Y. Beatty, friend and former associate of the famous Luther Burbank, will tell of the work and methods of the great plant improver. Having experimented with Burbank for three years he is certainly qualified to describe Burbank's work and famous productions and tell how the work was done. The method of plant improvement when understood may be employed by an interested person without elaborate or special equipment.

It was Burbank's wish that others produce new plants and Mr. Beatty will explain the simple technique of this fascinating process. The lecture will be illustrated with about one hundred kodachrome slides made on Luther Burbank's ground in Santa Rosa, California, and elsewhere.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, March 14, at 8 p. m., in the North grade school. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Ens. Raoul Peeters engaged to Florida girl

The engagement of Ensign Raoul Peeters, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Raoul H. Peeters, Sr., 803 N. Dunton st., Arlington Heights and Miss Marchita Jewell Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Miami, Florida, was announced February 14, at a formal dinner party at the Wm. Edwards home.

Red hearts attached to colonial bouquets announcing the engagement, marked the place of each guest at the table beautifully centered with red roses and white sweet peas surrounding a candelabrum.

Miss Edwards, a graduate of Miami Edison high school, now is employed at the naval air station in Opa-Locka, Florida.

Ensign Peeters attended the Maine College, Des Plaines, before entering the naval air service as a pilot. He is awaiting a new assignment on a fleet carrier. His address is Ensign R. H. Peeters, USNR, FPO, New York, N. Y.

Just Around the Corner

Dear Elly:

Here it is Sunday evening, and I am only now beginning my letter! But, as Dr. Sauer once said, "you will find that a baby makes quite a difference in a home." What he didn't tell me is that whether they are just babies or grown up sons in the Navy come home on "leave", their presence is likely to make an appreciable "difference"—But one you know I love and welcome.

We've been having so much fun on Bob's leave! But I'll wait until I see you to tell you of that. You WILL be feeling well enough to attend the Town Meeting in Arlington Heights tomorrow night, won't you? Rob and I are planning to take Dorothy and Edward's teacher with us, for we're all extremely interested in hearing the discussion on the topic, "What Do We Want Our Legislators To Do For Our Schools?"

Speaking of Miss Colburn reminds me that I asked her about the little verse Edward had printed, the one about "the moon". By the way, he was very happy to have you ask him to send you a copy, but we must confess that his teacher's mark of "good" on his paper was only for neatness and correctness, and not for originality. It seems that that delightful grandmother in Lake Forest, Dorothy Aldis, wrote the poem, as she does so many, for her grandchildren. Here it is, in its entirety:

Day-Time Moon

In the morning
When the sun
Is shining down
On everyone,
It's very strange
To see the moon
Large and like
A pale balloon,
Drifting over
Roof and tree
Without one star
For company.

It has your Emily Dickinson air about it, hasn't it?

Here I go again, but speaking about Emily Dickinson reminds me that you would have enjoyed being with Dorothy and me in Fullerton Hall at the Art Institute last week when Mary Agnes Doyle, Asst. Head of the School of Drama, Goodman Theatre gave some impressions of the American scene through the eyes of the poets of 1800 to 1875.

When Miss Doyle read from Miss Dickinson, she WAS the poetess come to life! One of the interesting comments she made about the poetess herself was this: she said Emily Dickinson read her dictionary like a book, but never consulted it. She also referred to Miss Dickinson as the greatest woman poet since Sappho!

This lecture was part of a seminar held in connection with the Hudson River School exhibition on view on the second floor of the Institute from Feb. 15 to March 25th.

We really made a gala day of it. To start from the beginning, we arrived at the Art Institute a few minutes after the doors opened. We went to see the work of the artists that made up the Hudson River School, the first true American school of painting. Mr. Frederick Sweet, the associate curator of painting, spent a year and a half looking through attics and basements to find the 164 paintings and drawings. In the light of what we know and understand today it is my own personal feeling that these pictures have charm and serenity. Greatness? Well, perhaps greatness in that they depict the early scenes of the New Republic that was then beginning to feel itself out after 25 years of war.

We had the happy experience of comparing these works with the paintings of one of Chicago's fine artists of today, Miss Jean Crawford Adams. I join Dorothy in admiration of this woman's ability. She is "showing" in collaboration with one of the teachers at the Institute. The first thing that strikes you about Miss Adams' work, and is wholly lacking in the paintings of those other artists of

Seek opinions on federal aid bill

Federal Aid to Education is a subject now being nationally discussed. What are your views on it? What do you think about Federal Aid Bill (Senate 181 and H. R. 1296)? a bygone day, is her mastery of design, and her skillful handling of color. Her pictures have brilliance, and a quality that grows on one the oftener they are seen. If you find yourself in town within the next few weeks, Elly, do try to see these shows. I believe you will find them very worth while.

The first lecture began at 10:30 in the morning with Howard Mumford Jones, Professor of English, at Harvard University, the speaker. He traced the growth of an interest among writers and readers in interpretations of the scenery of that brave new world of 1800. Because he is such an outstanding educator, I felt it a privilege to hear him. Then at 11:30 Miss Doyle's lecture "Through The Poet's Eyes" was presented. I'm sure I've already told you enough to indicate how much I enjoyed her.

At noon Dorothy took me to the Arts Club for a lunch fit for the Gods. And as I felt I had been more or less up in the clouds all morning, that was all right, too. After lunch we took a quick look-see at the exhibit of two contemporary artists showing in the club's gallery, and then indulged in a cab when we were whisked back to the Institute. (Have you ever noticed that newspaper writers invariably "whisk" those "certain" people from trains to hotels, to meeting places around the town, etc.?) Well, darn it, I felt like some kind of a celebrity myself that day, honest I did.

We got back to the Institute in plenty of time to hear the afternoon lecture by Henry-Russell Hitchcock, Head of the Art Department, Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut. It was called "Architecture In The Romantic Scene A Hundred Years Ago", and was illustrated. I saw the Italian villa and other types of romantic architecture popular for houses a century ago home, and safe and sound when discussed in relation to their suitability to various types of land-escape setting. Wasn't that a full day? Being Saturday, my family of men were for a perfect day. Mary.

France

From France comes word of Ray Stoltenberg of Roselle.

"Just received my copy of the Register for the first time in many a month. It was dated 4th of November, but to me it was still news. Sure was a treat to read the articles of many of my buddies from Roselle and good to see some of their familiar faces.

"Have been moving around quite a bit since hitting the continent. Just came down here to France recently after serving with the 1st Army in the campaign against Germany at the bulge at St. Vith. Activities at the front seem far more quiet than up in Belgium.

"Had a raise in pay last week when I was awarded the combat infantryman's badge although money is of no value over here.

"All for today so will close and hope the later editions of the paper catch up soon. Still waiting for Xmas boxes here at the front. Hello to all the boys wherever they may be."

His address is Cpl. R. W. Stoltenberg, 36742123, APO 451, % PM, New York, N. Y.

From France comes word of Bob Gaare of Arlington Heights.

"Things were a little rough when we first landed, but everything is well organized now and things are beginning to operate. I've learned to do things over here I never thought possible. Am learning to appreciate the little things in life, being warm and having enough to eat has major importance in my life now.

"Being in the QM we manage to do quite a bit of rolling, so have seen a bit of France, namely LeHarve. Hardly a building stands that hasn't been hit by bombs or shell fire. These French people really know there's a war on.

"My French has improved considerably. Presume my German will come in a little handy before very long."

His address is Sgt. R. L. Gaare, 36640145, APO 200, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Changing his address in France is Paul Krefit of Palatine who serves with the engineers. His address is T-5 Paul Krefit, 36782223, APO 562, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Mrs. Alice Johnson, 9 W. Ridge Ave., Prospect Heights, has received numerous letters, all postmarked Italy on the same dates that her husband has been writing her.

She is seeking help from any parents of the men or the men themselves stationed at or near APO 91 in Italy in locating her husband so that he can again get mail from home.

Oscar Laurance, TM3c of Wheeling, has now moved up to somewhere in the Philippines. He says he is in good health and finds the islands very interesting.

Belgium

From Belgium comes word of Mel Kehe of Arlington Heights.

"Got a big surprise a few days ago when I walked Al Kahling of Arlington. He sure looks swell and hasn't changed a bit. He came over Wednesday afternoon, stayed overnight, and left again Thursday morning. We really had a swell visit, even though it was short. Of course, the main topic was about home, our wives and families, and ended up mentioning practically everyone in Arl. Hts.

"Al told a lot of his experiences. He's an interrogator, and gets to talk to many German soldiers. That's all he has to do—question the German prisoners. He says it's pretty interesting at times but they have more than they can handle.

"The weather has changed a lot over here. Tuesday the roads were blocked with snow and by Friday the snow was all gone. It's been fairly warm the past few days, just like spring. Now we have all this mud to contend with again. The Belgians say the winter is over. I hope so."

Bronze star to

Capt. John Allen

Award of a Bronze Star and a Captain's bars was announced this week for John Allen of Arlington Heights who is stationed in France. John is believed to be serving with the information bureau of a Prisoner of War camp.

"A few changes have been made in the section. The Major has left and I'm now in charge—a rather dubious honor. After so long a time the work is very tedious and boring, but my situation as a whole is much too good to complain about. I'm in Marseilles."

"Still receive the Herald, but please note my new address. They get here months late. Mail is usually very slow. Am still getting December letters."

His address is Capt. John Allen, 0-1049047, APO 772, % PM, New York, N. Y.

Saipan

From Saipan comes word of Clarence Moeller of Wheeling.

"I want to take this opportunity to thank you and the folks back home who have made it possible for me to receive your paper. Just received three more copies today, and was really glad to get them too. About the only way we have down in this place of getting any news from around home is through your paper, and it really is enjoyed. I read it through from the front to the back, but the first thing I turn to is W. U. S. I had the pleasure of finding out someone from around Wheeling is down here also. I read Lt. Scolar's article in your issue of Jan. 5th, and I noticed that he mentioned my name. I am not acquainted with him personally, but it is always nice to meet someone from around home, even though you don't know them. So the first chance I get, I am going to look him up. It will sure be nice to talk to someone from around home again.

"Have meant to write long before this, but always kept putting it off until I could find more time. So therefore, I never did get it written. So I will say right now, thanks to the folks back there who have made it possible for us to receive your paper, and I want you to know it really is appreciated. Keep up the good work, and especially with Uncle Sam. It has really helped me to locate a lot of my buddies.

"Have been down here about three months now, and so far there isn't too much to complain about. The food has improved quite a bit since I've been here, and we haven't been bothered with any air raids now for about two months."

His address is Cpl. C. Moeller, 36614978, APO 244 % PM, San Francisco, California.

Texas

Pfc. Clarence L. Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pearson of Orchard avenue, Box 104, Bensenville, was graduated last week from the Army Air Forces Flexible Gunners School, Laredo Army Air Field, Laredo, Texas, a member of the AAF Training Command. He is now qualified to take his place as a member of a bomber combat crew.

Along with his diploma, he received a pair of Aerial Gunner's wings and a promotion in grade at brief graduation exercises.

He was prepared for his place in America's stepped-up air offensive by a comprehensive six weeks course in every phase of aerial gunnery warfare. Besides learning to fire every type of weapon from camera guns to the deadly .50 Brownings, he studied turret manipulation, aircraft identification, stripping and reassembling of machine guns while blindfolded. He climaxed the course by air firing on towed targets.

Clarence is expected home on furlough this week-end.

Home after 32 months on Oahu and Gilberts

Cpl. Erwin Behrens on 30 days furlough

Home on furlough after 32 months in the Central Pacific area is Erwin Behrens of Arlington Heights. Erwin arrived home two weeks ago after serving on Oahu and in the Gilberts. He reports back to duty March 17, when he expects to ship out again for the Pacific.

"I was stationed with a medical detachment, assigned to an artillery and anti-aircraft unit. We went overseas in May of '42, a long time ago. First 18 months on Oahu were comparatively quiet, though we kept pretty busy. The Japs were on the prowl at that time and we were continually on the alert.

"Then in November our unit shipped out to the Gilberts where we landed on the third day after the invasion. Things were plenty hot around there at that time. Our artillery men set up their anti-aircraft immediately behind the lines, then moving as the men moved. It's at those times you appreciate home. But we were pretty busy to think much about home.

Emergency aid

"My own work was aiding and transporting casualties. We would give them emergency treatment right at their post, and then transport them to an aid station.

"But we were pretty lucky for Jap bombers kept very high, almost out of range. The gunners would fire by instrument, of course. It's hard to tell whether you hit the enemy, but the anti-aircraft does keep Nip planes at such high levels that their bombing accuracy is at a minimum.

"Law of averages does work with the Nips, occasionally. One bomb landed close by, killing six men. A few were injured on other raids, but we were surprisingly lucky.

"We lived in tents on the Gilberts. The island is British, and there was no use constructing permanent barracks. Usual comforts of home were missing but we were a lot better off than most out there. We had the usual movies and sports. Baseball headlined the program.

Rid mosquitoes

"Mosquitoes were very obnoxious at first, but most of them were 'put out' of their misery by the army. Swamps were drained, oil was spread, and the island was cleared. The natives were a great help when they knocked down most of the cocoanuts. It seems many of these fall break open, fill with water in the next rain, and then the mosquitoes breed. As long as we could keep the cocoanuts picked up and disposed of the dengue menace was held to a minimum.

"Life got monotonous at times over there but most everyone made the best of it. We had several radios which provided a good supply of news and music. Army service forces radio stations rebroadcast many of the programs from home. Thus, we kept up on the activities of almost all the favorites."

Cpl. Behrens entered service February 28, 1942, training at Berkeley, Texas. This was his only training station before leaving for overseas. Erwin wears one hash mark, and 5 6-months service stripes.

Pacific

Meeting recently out in the Pacific were Art Kehe, Fred Kehe and Roland Koenig, all of Arlington Heights. Art had heard his brother's ship was in port and proceeded to look him up. Fred served aboard an aircraft carrier and was surprised to see Art. The two hadn't met for 14 months.

As Art was looking for Fred's ship he met Roland Koenig, also looking for Fred. The trio spent the day together, had their picture taken and spent the day talking about home. "It was a swell 9 hours", reports Art.

Marianas

As a member of the famed 11th Heavy Bombardment Group of the 7th AAF, Second Lieutenant Bernard J. Breiter, Bensenville, has been commended by Major General Robert W. Douglas, Jr., commanding the 7th AAF, for his part "in the campaigns which have taken a large section of the Pacific from the enemy's hands."

General Douglas issued his commendation along with a personal message of congratulations as the group rounded out its fifth year, one of the oldest, most traveled heavy bomber outfits in the Pacific.

Based where its B-24 Liberators, bomb, strafe and harass the enemy at points within 600 miles of the Japanese mainland, the 11th Group has participated in almost every major move of the great offensive that has rolled the Japanese back more than 3,000 miles to their own front yard.

Its fighting tradition began at Hickam Field when the group was all but destroyed in the Pearl Harbor attack. The 11th later sent bombs crashing down on Wake and Guadalcanal.

It precision-bombed northward through the Gilberts, the Marshalls the Carolines, the Marianas, bringing such targets as Truk, Tarawa and Guam within its bomb-sights. Now the Bonin and Volcano Islands are the targets for its attacks.

"The valiant record of your group is the valiant record of its men, both as a unit and as individuals," General Douglas declared.

Lieutenant Breiter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Breiter, Sr., live on Church Road, Bensenville. He was engaged in farming prior to entering the Army in March, 1942. Since joining the 7th AAF as co-pilot of an 11th Group Liberator bomber, he has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with one Oak Leaf Cluster. Two brothers are in the service; Walter, a sergeant in the Army and Herbert is in the Navy.

Germany

From slinging the chow, to swinging the tunes from the keyboard of a piano is an easy and welcome change for Pfc. Elmer Johnson of Wheeling. Elmer, who is a cook with the 265th F. A. Bn recently enjoyed such a change. In his own words written from Germany "went back from the lines to a rest camp for a few days and really had a nice time. It was so grand to get away from all the noise. Went to a place where people go around as though they didn't know there was a war on. The camp was very nice, good food, clean sleeping quarters, very spacious lounges. One thing in particular was good pianos of which I made good use. I played for quite a number of men on Sunday afternoon at the main lounge on a Steinway Lyon & Healy Concert grand. The theater was very modern, shows the best and sightseeing very interesting."

Tells details of wounding in Germany Italy

Second Lieutenant George F. Jensen, Jr., 24, of 500 Webford ave., Des Plaines, formerly of Arlington Heights, who was wounded in the back and right thigh by fragments from a German 88mm. shell while his unit was engaged in cleaning out an enemy machine gun near Vossenack, Germany, is convalescing at a United States general hospital in England. He has been awarded the Purple Heart for his wounds received December 13.

Lt. Jensen, and Infantry platoon leader with the Eighth Division, was second in command of a special task force of five tanks and 35 men assigned to knock out a German machine gun positions outside Vossenack in the Huertgen Forest area.

"Lt. Jensen's condition is satisfactory and he is making normal progress in his recovery," said his ward medical officer, Captain Herbert A. Luscombe of Johnstown, Pa.

"While making an attempt to clean out the German positions, we were counterattacked by about 75 enemy infantrymen but we managed to repulse them and hold our positions," said Lt. Jensen.

"Later in the day, I was wounded by an 88. Afterwards, I learned that our little task force was relieved after two days of fighting."

After remaining with his unit overnight, Lt. Jensen was treated at a battalion aid station and eventually reached hospitals in Belgium and France. He was evacuated to England by hospital ship.

Lt. Jensen, who has been in the Army six years, enlisted in 1938, and was stationed with the infantry in Hawaii until September, 1941. He entered Officers Candidate School in February, 1942, and was commissioned at Ft. Benning, Georgia. He joined his division near Brest.

Before entering the army, Lt. Jensen was with a racetrack maintenance crew at Tropical Park, Florida. His wife, Mrs. Betty Jensen, resides at the Webford ave. address. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Jensen, Sr. live in Miami, Florida.

Belgium

Ed Bach of Northbrook has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bach, from Belgium, where he is serving with the Ninth army. His address is Cpl. Ed Bach, 36732692, APO 339, 4 PM, New York, N. Y.

France

Writing from the Pacific is Bob Kohler of Arlington Heights. Bob's dad is cashier of the newly-formed Palatine National Bank.

"Don't let the address on the envelope fool you because I've really been knocking around the past couple of weeks. It's a long story, most of it I can't tell. I've been assigned to a ship for some time now. Several of us started chasing the ship by all means of transportation—ship and flying. After traveling a long distance we find that our ship had just pulled out ahead of us and we have to chase it back where we started from. This ship is a non-combat ship and stays in the back lines and is supposed to be good duty."

"I've been living on various islands lately after flying to them. Some of these islands have been blasted to pieces of coral and I'm not kidding. The navy really took care of them. At the present, we're waiting for air transport again to our destination. Flying agrees with me 100%. Nothing like it. Plenty of coconuts around with lots of hot sunshine also."

"For awhile I was working with some CB's building Quonset Huts. Part of my traveling over here was done aboard ship and I stood watches in the radio shack so I got a little experience. In fact I got more in the days aboard that ship than I ever did in school. I'm on an island which hasn't been in U. S. control so very long. We are living in an ex-Jap seaplane hangar with plenty of lizards crawling around at night."

"I haven't got any mail since I left Madison. I imagine that all of my mail is sent directly to the ship to which I am assigned. I've certainly had some experiences since I left home which was exactly two months ago. You can hardly tell anything though so I suppose I might as well not even try."

"Sea-going life agrees with me fine. You don't get much sleep though because of G. Q. (general quarters) battle stations. Coming over to here we had general quarters every morning at dawn and night at sunset. It's better than being marooned on these islands by far."

His address is S1c(RM) Robert Kohler, c/o PPO, San Francisco, Calif.

Illinois

Now at Camp Ellis, Illinois, is Carl Svetanoff of Arlington Heights. He was formerly stationed at Camp Claiborne, La.

California

T-5 R. D. and Mrs. Bradle of Arlington Heights have just completed a ten day furlough from "Two Rock Ranch" Petaluma, Calif. Spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Zinn of So. Walnut ave., and the remainder with Cpl. Bradle's family in Eureka, Ill., the couple reported back to duty February 28.

Raymond Elko of Northbrook has returned to Shoemaker, Calif., after spending several days with his parents, the R. Elkos on Pfling-ston road. His address is S2c CB Raymond Elko, 727-71-06, CBID, Camp Parks, Shoemaker, Calif.

Now at Sacramento, California, is Don Welfin of Wheeling. His address is Capt. D. E. Welfin, 1505 AAF BU, Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif.

Home for a few days furlough after completing training at Faragut, Idaho, was John Boyer of Northbrook. Sic Boyer has been transferred to Shoemaker, California.

Now at Fort Ord, California, is August Penkava of Palatine. His address is Cpl. A. J. Penkava, 4th Ord MM Co., Ft. Ord, California.

France

From France comes word of Marvin Petersen of Palatine.

"Along with my mail today I was very happy to receive your Dec. 8th issue of the Palatine Enterprise. I wish to take this time to express my deepest thanks to the Legion Auxiliary and everyone who makes it possible to receive such a grand home town paper. May I not only say this on behalf of myself, but for all my friends and buddies from Palatine and surrounding communities, who are serving their country, both overseas and in the States."

"Upon reading through the 'With Uncle Sam' column, I came across a very interesting article written by my buddy Sgt. Art Hedberg who hails from Prospect Heights. When I first arrived in the Third Division it was quite natural for me (as I know anyone else would do the same) to look up any one who might by chance come from around my home town. Imagine my surprise when I heard 'Heddie' (as we all call him) was from Prospect Heights! We both got together as soon as time would permit to start 'shooting the breeze' about this and that. In fact anything you'd expect would be said when two fellows meet overseas who are in the same outfit, in fact the same battery, might be discussed."

"Since then we have come a long ways together. Art and I—the push off Anzio, on to Rome, the invasion of Southern France, and on to our present whereabouts with the famous 'Marne' Division of the Seventh Army."

Then, too, there are my other friends in 'Heddie's' and my outfit who are just grand fellows. To mention a few, there is Cpl. Jerry Lucia who hails from Cicero, Cpl. Bill 'Baldy' Hannah from Danville and quite a few more from 'The Windy City' and suburbs."

"We all have had many experiences together, some of them I must admit not pleasant ones. All in all, we are over here doing our very best for our families, our wives, sweethearts, and all our friends back home."

"Talking about a few Palatine boys who are over here doing their part also, there is Eddie Wehrdt, 'Barney' Muehlfeldt and Bill Howes, all members of my old division. The four of us have not had the opportunity of meeting here in France as yet, but all of us have our fingers crossed. That would be quite a Palatine reunion."

"May I close with these few words I hope my grand people back home will keep in mind. Back us with bonds and we shall do our very best over here. Thanks once again for sending the Enterprise to us boys over here from Palatine."

His address is Pfc. Marvin L. Petersen, 36712164, APO 3, 4 P M, New York, N. Y.

Staff Sergeant Ray J. Dahlstrom, 9 East Campbell street, Arlington Heights, is a clerk in the Technical Inspector's office of the Air Transport Group of the Ninth Air Force Service Command in France which flies vital war supplies to the forward landing strips.

A former player for the Chicago American League ball club, he attended Michigan State University. He has been serving overseas for 30 months.

Mrs. Henry Hansen of Palatine received the Purple Heart February 20 from her son, Pvt. Lawrence Kissner, for a wound received in the battle of St. Lo. Lawrence is no longer in combat duty. He has been transferred to an MP unit in France.

His address is Pvt. Lawrence Kissner, 36693466, APO 562, 4 P M, New York, N. Y.

Now a staff sergeant overseas is George Luecking of Bensenville. George was wounded October 17 of last year, but has evidently recovered sufficiently to be back in action. His address is S/Sgt. George Luecking, 36695321, APO 79, 4 PM, New York, N. Y.

Virginia

"Sure appreciate your sending the town paper," writes Elmer Kirchhoff of Mt. Prospect. His address is S2c Elmer Kirchhoff, 946-30-33, Armed Guard School, Shelton (U. S. Rt. 60) Box 3, Norfolk 11, Va.

Great Lakes

Home on leave from Great Lakes the past week was George Callahan of Arlington Heights. George was scheduled to return to the Lakes this Thursday. Future assignment is not known.

Ambulance Jockeys remember just one patient — their first Received this week is an account of two ambulance drivers, one of them Francis Muehlfeldt of Palatine, who are serving with the 7th army in France. The account was published in the Feb. 8 edition of Stars and Stripes.

They chased some of the kids out of the narrow courtyard so the ambulance could back up and unload. Two of the passengers were walking wounded. The third was a litter case, a young loopy all doped up with morphine.

"He thinks he's still up front," said the driver. "All the way he kept yelling something about a machine gun on a hill and he kept repeating, 'We've got to attack... we've got to attack...'"

It was cold outside and the driver shivered a little.

"The first guy we ever hauled from the front was like that," said the driver. "He had his brains wrapped up in a bandage and I expected him to start screaming any minute because it was the roughest cross-country trip I ever made."

The assistant driver interrupted: "Yeah, I remember that guy. He didn't even seem to know he was in an ambulance. He just kept talking about all his buddies who got hit and then he started talking to himself."

Both the driver and his assistant were Pfc. Francis Muehlfeldt, the driver, used to be a paint sprayer back in Palatine. His assistant, Tristram Coffin, of Greenbush.

They talk about how they got hit and how tough the fighting was and occasionally someone will get sentimental about the clean white sheets he's going to sleep under if they move him back to a general hospital.

"But they never talk about home," said Muehlfeldt. "It's too far away, I guess."

Both drivers have been lucky so far. Once a Jerry plane, on a strafing job, overshot them. Plenty of shells came close, but the concussion from the closest only cracked their windshield. They cracked up once when Kraut flares dropping out of the blackout blinded Muehlfeldt so that he ran into a telegraph pole. The ambulance was empty.

"We haul anybody who's wounded," said Coffin, "but I hate like hell to haul Krauts. When we do, though, I like to hear them groan and whimper because I've seen what they've done to our boys."

"But the queerest thing in this whole ambulance job," said Coffin, "is the time you haul both Krauts and doggies in the same load and you think that they are both shooting at each other maybe a half hour before."

This ship is a non-combat ship and stays in the back lines and is supposed to be good duty."

"I've been living on various islands lately after flying to them. Some of these islands have been blasted to pieces of coral and I'm not kidding. The navy really took care of them. At the present, we're waiting for air transport again to our destination. Flying agrees with me 100%. Nothing like it. Plenty of coconuts around with lots of hot sunshine also."

"For awhile I was working with some CB's building Quonset Huts. Part of my traveling over here was done aboard ship and I stood watches in the radio shack so I got a little experience. In fact I got more in the days aboard that ship than I ever did in school. I'm on an island which hasn't been in U. S. control so very long. We are living in an ex-Jap seaplane hangar with plenty of lizards crawling around at night."

"I haven't got any mail since I left Madison. I imagine that all of my mail is sent directly to the ship to which I am assigned. I've certainly had some experiences since I left home which was exactly two months ago. You can hardly tell anything though so I suppose I might as well not even try."

"Sea-going life agrees with me fine. You don't get much sleep though because of G. Q. (general quarters) battle stations. Coming over to here we had general quarters every morning at dawn and night at sunset. It's better than being marooned on these islands by far."

Bronze star to Capt. Capoot in Philippines

Captain Lowell J. Capoot, Bensenville, was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service in connection with military operations against the enemy on Leyte in the Philippines.

Capt. Capoot, 77th Inf. Div. Liaison Officer had the responsibility of carrying important documents and information between various headquarters. His job called for long dangerous trips between lines under extremely adverse conditions.

Prior to entering the service in September, 1941, Capt. Capoot was employed by the Retailers Commercial Agency, Mt. Vernon, N. Y. He attended Illinois University and was graduated in 1935. While at the University he took advance ROTC, earning a reserve commission in the Cavalry. After his training in the Cavalry at Ft. Riley, Kansas, Capt. Capoot joined the 77th (Statute of Liberty) in March, 1942, as a Reconnaissance Troop Officer. He participated in Louisiana, California - Arizona maneuvers as well as Special Reconnaissance training with the 77th.

A veteran of the Guam Campaign, Captain Capoot is authorized to wear the Asiatic Pacific Medal with two stars, the Philippine Liberation Ribbon with the one star and the American Defense Ribbon.

His wife, Mrs. Erma Jeanne Capoot, and 2 children, Edna Jeanne and Lowell Jr., live at Independence, Wisconsin.

Meets buddy on Leyte

Forrest Davis of Arlington Heights writes this week from Leyte in the Philippines, telling about meeting Oscar Laurance of Wheeling.

"I am still in the Leyte theatre of operations and am feeling fine. The rainfall has now decreased to a comparative cloudburst in the States. I might say we had 14 inches one day and while it was a record for me to see, it was much short of the 52 inch record of rainfall of one place in this area a few years back. That is a world record too, right here in the Philippines. Of course the coral under the top soil absorbs these tropical downpours and I must say, I seldom have seen water or mud over knee deep, perhaps mainly because I walk on the high spots if possible."

"It is odd that Luzon is not experiencing such rains. In fact they say it is quite dry there and I am only a few hundred miles from Manila. The rain is much more desirable than the dust I have seen so little of. I notice the natives wear a rag over their mouth to protect their respiratory organs when there is any dust. I have heard that this dust is as bad as cement and I don't doubt it, since it is a coral like dust, with a brown tint."

"Oscar Laurance of Wheeling is the first acquaintance I have met from home. He arrived about 2 weeks ago and we took some pictures together but I have now decided he must have moved, because he has not been up to visit me and I was unsuccessful in my recent effort to contact him. We spent many pleasant hours 'bating the breeze' and I am sure all Red Wing fans will remember Oscar, not too potent with the bat, but a swell center fielder and a real swell fellow."

"We are eating very good. Oscar's regular visits for a good meal was evidence a plenty and of course he remarked about our excellent chow."

"I have been censoring mail for our battalion and the censorship regulations are so strict that there is very little of interest to write about. It is very quiet here. There is no enemy action; not even an alert for weeks. I guess the enemy has its hands full elsewhere in many theaters."

"It is now quite apparent that the Japs are fighting a defensive war, and I don't believe they will last as long as it seemed they might a few months ago. I believe Adm. Halsey is of the opinion the Japs will quit when the 'going gets hot' and I almost agree, but wonder just how hot it will have to get?"

"The Herald's are coming through pretty regular now. I just received the Dec. 8 issue. Air mail is the only way to correspond out in this theatre and it takes about 2 weeks but 3c regular first class takes from 6 to 10 weeks. I am just getting my Christmas cards and packages. I received 17 cards this past week, plus six packages came through in excellent condition."

His address is SK3c Forrest Davis, CB, c/o PPO, San Francisco, Calif.

California Home 30 days after 3rd fleet tour in Pacific

Now home on leave after another tour of duty in the Pacific is Jim McDougall of Arlington Heights. Jim serves aboard a heavy cruiser attached to the 3rd and 5th fleets. He arrived home Monday, and is scheduled to leave again March 31.

Y2c McDougall's service record is like a history of war in the Pacific. His ship serves as protection for the carrier task force. Here are some of the entries in that record:

11-21-43 to 9-18-43, Aleutians area, including occupation of Attu and Kiska.

10-5-43, bombardment of Wake Island.

11-20-43 to 11-26-43, occupation of Gilbert Islands, including bombardment of Makin Island Nov. 20.

11-27-43 to 12-5-43, attack Marshalls.

1-30-44, bombardment of Tarao Island and Maloelap Atoll.

1-31-44 to 2-8-44, Kwajalein Atoll and Marshall Islands.

2-12-44 to 2-20-44, attack Truk.

3-22-44 to 4-6-44, Palau and Moelai.

4-8-44 to 5-4-44, New Guinea and Truk, including Carolines Apr. 30.

6-10-44 to 7-30-44, Saipan, Tinian, Guam.

12-10-44 to 12-24-44, air strikes against Formosa, Okinawa, Jima and Philippines.

12-30-44 to 1-26-45, Luzon, Formosa, Okinawa, Jima, China Sea, including bombardment of China coast.

"It gave us a real thrill that last time to be sailing the China sea, Jap home waters, and fail to meet enemy naval opposition. Of course, planes were out in force against our fleet, but they were well taken care of. The Nips sent just enough planes over at night to keep us awake."

"Our fleet was in the midst of a typhoon when we lost 3 destroyers. It seemed too bad we had such losses when Jap naval forces failed to inflict any. It was quite a blow and all ships felt it."

"I pity the guys that had to make those landings on Iwo Jima. Our ships had blasted the entire mountain for three days, but didn't do much good as all the Japs were underground. When the Marines landed the Nips arose from everywhere. Their emplacements had 3 feet of concrete over the top and it was very rough going."

It Happened Here

Beauty For Ashes

Something there is, some hint of joy.

To ease gray days, some charm of alley

To mix with pigments drab of thru:

As tho a rainbow's shaft broke thru:

A curled brown leaf lace edged with snow

Spilling the casket's overflow;

A ray of light that hits the mirror's frame

And leaps in mirrored flame on flame;

A flash of color thru the new snowfall

When redbird comes to make his call;

A frieze of icicles that seems Compact of all the lost moonbeams;

At sunset when the gray clouds lift

Pale daffodils smile gently thru the rift.

Little Cora, five years old, was much interested in the service flag at Marshall Field's with its beautiful field of stars. "There must be thousands of them," she said. She was told how many and that the gold stars in the center were for the soldiers who had been killed. "Don't tell me that," she said. "I don't like the feel of it in my ears." Nearly two hours later as they passed a soldier on the street she said, "There's one soldier didn't get hurt. But just the same," she added, "I'm sorry for those that did."

With Uncle Sam

Washington D. C. Italy

From Washington, D. C. comes word of Bob Lockwood of Mt. Prospect.

"First I want to tell you how much I appreciate the Herald. We read it through from one end to the other. It is our principal link with home since my family is with me here in Washington. You do not realize how much it means to get the paper and we do not have any of the hardships that many of the boys do who have left that vicinity. Probably they do not tell you in detail what it means to get the Herald but I am quite sure that they appreciate it even more than we do. So keep up the good work.

"We sure hope that the war gets over soon so we can get back to Mount Prospect and resume where we left off. You see there are so many things that we miss. One does not realize what they mean until one has to do without them. We miss the South Church. Then there is Meeske's grocery, the bank, Winkelman's service station, Busse's grocery, the hardware, the garage, the drug stores and all the rest. There seemed to be a spirit of friendship and co-operation that is so lacking here. Maybe it will be all changed when we get back and, if so, then we will be disappointed. But I don't think it will.

"I am still in the Ordnance Department and, strange to relate, am working in a field with which I was quite familiar in civil life. My work takes me around the country somewhat so that things are not as dull and uninteresting as they might otherwise be.

Miss Margaret Wichman S/c SPAR, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Wichmann of 1422 N. State Road, Arlington Heights, is in Washington, D. C., now instead of Boston and writes:

"Well, I'm almost on my first week's anniversary in 3 hours or so, and in many ways things have begun to look brighter. The first thing is that I'm in an office . . .

and I've got a job in Public Relations, just where I wanted to be! It's a busy, crowded, excited place here, with I don't know how many offices. I came in yesterday morning and finally went to work writing captions for pictures of coast guard boys overseas to be sent to their home town newspapers."

Ghost ships of Pearl Harbor sink Japs in Philippines

Sic Ed Luehring serves aboard California

"We were the ghost ships—sunk at Pearl Harbor—that crossed the Jap T in that now historic naval battle in the Philippines. It was like shooting fish in a barrel. We couldn't miss with so many ships' guns trained on the enemy fleet."

Thus did Eddie Luehring of Arlington Heights describe the recent action in which his ship, the battleship California, took an active part. The California was flagship of the seventh fleet. "And I wouldn't trade my place on that ship for a million dollars," said Eddie.

He arrived home on 18 days leave February 18, and is scheduled to report back to the West Coast March 8.

Jap fleet approaches

"We had known the Jap fleet was approaching through Segura straits, and had sent our carrier planes to meet them. As the Nips had done so many times we expected them to run from our planes. It seemed surface engagements were not meant for us.

"And then we got GQ, telling us the Nips were just 9 miles away. My crew was on watch at that hour, about 3 in the morning. We were in the turret, waiting at our 14 inch guns. Then came the news and the entire ship's crew of 2,600 men rushed to battle stations.

"Might add that I saw Charlie Snyder over here. Really had a swell time for a couple of hours. Maybe his folks would like to hear about that. If you would like, tell them he's o. k. and looking good. Saw the Purple Heart and the Infantryman's medal. He's really a soldier. I'm just starting on my accessories."

"While I'm going here, might say I saw the Rock of Gibraltar, was at the town of Naples and visited a few ancient coliseums, and last but not least, tipped a few suds called cognac. That's pretty powerful stuff. They told me later it's used to fill P-47's. Right now my outfit is stationed in an old Italian villa called a Villa. It's really nice country around here but the mountains are a little too high. They are not as big as the ones in Colorado where the ski troops first had their inauguration. Have seen a little action thus far, out for a couple of days on the front lines with a stretcher to aid casualties. Naturally I'm in the Medics so we really see a lot and get right into the thick of things."

battleship, plus a few cruisers, but all that came out to meet us were two destroyers. They attacked our mine-sweepers, far in advance of our fleet unit.

"All the mine-sweepers had for protection were several PT boats. We immediately opened fire on the enemy tin cans, but it was the work of the PTs that routed them. They damaged one and sent both scurrying away. Our planes later sank one destroyer.

"Also, we had expected a good many shore batteries to assault us. Certainly the Japs had fortified the island. But that firing was missing, either through action of our own guns, or through neglect on the part of the Japs.

Saipan is tough

"Saipan was just the opposite. A terrific toll of Marines was taken there. We had bombarded positions plenty, but island features were against us. Saipan had just one beach where landing in force was possible. There was this flat slope, then a rise to high cliffs. It was from these cliffs that many of the Nips committed suicide.

"I never realized a battleship could come so close to the target as we did that time. The water is deep about Saipan, making it one of the best islands in the Pacific. I hope this country retains that base for future security."

"A big help at Saipan were the submarines. They had been taking pictures of Jap defenses up to the day before invasion, and these photos saved plenty of lives.

Swimmers precede ships

"You can't imagine how extensive a job running a naval fleet is, operating far from its home shores. And the actual invasion bombardment is more detailed than ever. When we were at Luzon buoys had been floating marking the lanes we were to travel, and warning us of shallow waters.

"And bulwarking this mapping of all invasions are the swimmers, all demolition experts. At any island where shallow reefs are present swimmers are sent out 24 hours before invasion in small boats to blow up obstructions impeding passage of landing boats.

"We always give these small boats a covering barrage, but you can imagine how you'd feel, way out there by yourself. These swimmers dive from their boats and blow up shallow reefs. Assault boats the next day might become stuck on these bars, and become 'fish' for shore batteries."

A fightin' man

Admiral Ollendorf commanded the seventh fleet in last part of the action in which the California took part. "He was a fighting man through and through. Everyone liked him. Our ship had always had the reputation of being the cleanest in the navy, but under the present captain we pay more attention to fighting, and not so much towards a few rust spots.

"Our fleet was a slow one in comparison with the Japs. Only the third fleet can chase the Nips and keep up with them. Thus it is our job to 'wait' for the enemy hoping he will not run. Our carriers are small craft, slower than the big ones, which are all in the third fleet. We call ours the coffin carriers, for they remind you of just that.

"One obstacle our fleet met out there, not man-made, was the typhoon. The third fleet was hit harder than ours, when two destroyers were lost. But we were out on the edge of it. One story tells of a carrier skipper saving his ship by running the men back and forth across the flight deck to keep the ship in balance. True or not, it shows ingenuity and quick thinking."

In 14-inch turret

Eddie's job was in a 14 inch gun turret. "And it isn't as bad as people think. The concussion isn't as bad as it is outside, and, with everyone capable at his job, there are few accidents.

"The gun captain is the main cog in the turret. He OKs every move. He is the one to signify breech closing, that the gun is ready, and to see that the bore is clear after firing.

"Biggest danger with those 14-inchers is the chance that some spark may ignite the whole works. The projectile is inserted in the breech, 4 bags of powder rammed in behind it, primer inserted, breech closed, and 'ready to fire' signal given. After firing the breech is thrown open, and blower is used to make sure no particles of the silk powder bag are still in the muzzle. A warm piece of cloth may explode the powder bag as it is inserted for the next round.

You don't worry much

"In the short Leyte engagement against the Nip fleet, our turret had to halt fire while powder from a broken bag was cleaned up to the last particle. It had broken open in handling, and any little spark would have caused an explosion and fire. Those bags weigh 95 or 125 pounds apiece, depending on type of powder.

"Only time you worry in the turret is when a gun misses, and a new primer has to be inserted. It is then that you hate to see orders, come through to open the breech, for a sudden draft of wind might cause the powder to explode.

"There are two types of projectiles, one for bombardment and one for surface engagements. The former is filled with shrapnel while the latter has a hollow nose, and is made to penetrate armor before exploding. Of course there are fuses on all projectiles that can be set for the desired time.

Guns short lived

"A gun barrel has a short life. Usual estimate for accuracy is 1,000 bombardment projectiles. Surface, or AP shells, are rated 10 to 1 against bombardment shells, due to increased use of powder and 'oomph'. Thus a barrel is good for only 100 surface shells.

"You see, all barrels are threaded. The projectiles, when fired, spiral out, usually turning three times before they leave the muzzle, 21 feet long. After a day's firing, metal scrapings have been pushed to the end of the gun, sometimes extending a full inch. These have to be knocked off after every engagement. After the maximum number of rounds have been fired, rebaring is necessary. Such work, usually undertaken at Pearl Harbor, takes about 48 hours per gun—taking out, boring, and putting in.

You're safe in a turret

"One nice thing about a gun turret is the heavy armor surrounding you. Authorities say it would take a direct hit of a 1,000 lb. bomb to penetrate the armor. And the turret is sloping so a direct hit is high on impossible.

"A second safe feature of our ship is the seven foot blister of steel from the water line, down around the entire boat. This has been installed to explode torpedoes without their doing any appreciable damage. We are supposed to be able to stand 7 or 8 torpedoes before getting worried. I trust that figure.

Buck Rogers bullets

"Our greatest danger is air attack, and even that has been taken care of pretty well. A new type of 5 inch anti-aircraft projectile, a magnetized 'Buck Rogers bullet', is used against suicide

Burma

From Burma comes word of Charles Hamburg of Arlington Heights.

"I thought I would drop you a line and let you in on a bit of first hand information. We boys over here in Burma have everything under control. In fact it won't be long before you people read 'Burma completely in Allied hands.' At least I hope it won't be too long.

"Not many people think of the war here in the C.B.I. but believe me we are here just the same driving the Japs back farther every day. But enough of the war over here.

"If you happen to print this in the paper I hope some of the fellas from Arlington and Mt. Prospect will pick up the paper and get my address. Too, if any of them happen to drop a line Burma way, I'll do all I can to answer.

"Many of the boys from home may get back sooner than people think, when Germany falls. Believe me I'm hoping for everyone of the boys in Europe, just as much as he himself."

squadrons of Nip planes, and found to be very effective.

"These bullets are used only against groups of planes. The shells burst in the air and shrapnel is guided to the planes through electrical magnets. All these shells are strictly watched for dating, in case their battery mechanisms need re-charging. But they are the answer to suicide squadrons who rain down on a ship dozens strong. It was through these bullets that one battleship was able to down 45 enemy planes in one attack.

Enemy subs are lacking

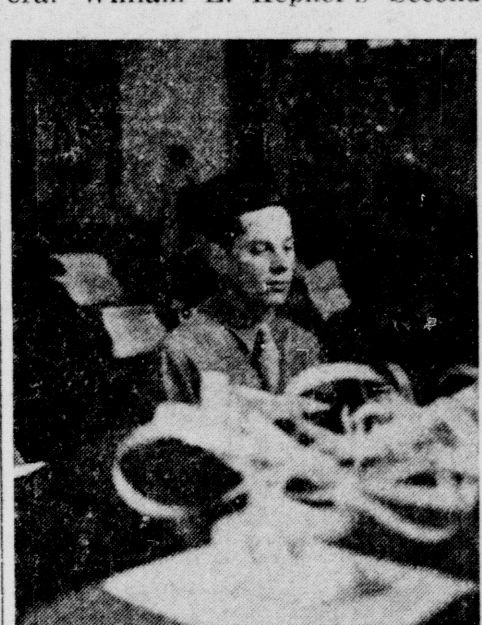

"A big source of wonder is lack of Jap submarines in the Pacific. The Nips reputedly had so many undersea craft, and yet I still have to see my first enemy sub. Those islands are ideal for lurking subs, for radar detection would always presume an island, and not the enemy undersea craft stalking nearby.

"Our fleets fought timidly at first, but have now grown so much that they parade right down the Jap's own waters. I wouldn't be surprised if the invasion of either China or Japan itself was underway before I get back in combat."

Eddie entered service in September of 1943. He trained at Great Lakes, and the following May was shipped out. He first sailed to Pearl Harbor and then into action. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. F. Luehring.

B'ville man runs teletype in England

"You're right in the middle of important activities, and actually a part of Eighth Air Force operations," declared Cpl. August S. Mosack, 31, of Bensenville, in reference to his job with Major General William E. Kepner's Second Air Division. He is a teletype operator in the communications section, nerve center of a complex network. The communication lines reach far flung army air force and R. A. F. bases.

In this section which operates twenty-four hours a day, Cpl. Mosack and others handle thousands of messages daily. The steady clatter of the electrically powered teletype machines expedite the transmittal of information which coordinates bombing missions with fighter escorts.

Cpl. Mosack, brother of Mrs. E. Pursell, 207 S. Center St., was formerly employed by the Milwaukee-St. Paul & Pacific R. R. prior to his entry in the service, June, 1942. The York Commercial High School graduate (1931) received his training at Camp Crowder, Mo. In December, 1942, Cpl. Mosack arrived overseas to assume duties with the Eighth Air Force.

Prior to D-Day, when all Allied forces were assembling, the air division's communications section was handling close to a thousand messages daily. To Cpl. Mosack, the night before D-Day was an event he will "cherish for years to come."

"When we saw the most important message ever to roll out of the machines, we all became excited," said the Bensenville serviceman.

He then added: "It was a hot message to handle."

New York

Now in the Merchant Marine is Arthur "Scottie" Warder of Palatine. He is stationed in White Plains, New York, at present. He sends the following poem:

I had a letter from my wife today. And mercy on us, do you know what she had to say. She said that some folks heard that I was dead. Others heard that I simply fell out of bed. Some Palatine folk can sure spread the butter. And say the things that were never uttered.

On arriving in New York and feeling kind of tired. It was no long before in the Cosmopolitan Hotel, well, I retired. I was awakened with a banging on the door. And water streaming all over the floor. And voices shouting get up, get out. And dinna mind about yer clothes. The hotel is all on fire, with the flames going higher and higher. And as I got out of bed, the bed clothes wrapped around my leg. And I stumbled and I fell. In bewilderment I thought 'I was hell. I hurt my side and bruised my leg. In stumbling clear out of bed. Over the bed table I did go. I felt so sick for a day or two. It was a hospital case I knew. And so I to the Dr. went and soon, my friends, my money was spent. And as they placed me on the operation table I began to pray while I was able.

The nurse said D Breathe Deep old Scottie dear. So that you will go to sleep in here. And so I laid me down to sleep. And prayed the Lord my soul to keep. And should I die before I wake I prayed the Lord my soul to take. And my Lassie I prayed for you. For you have always been true blue. That if I did na' gau to sea, then Lassie, you could bury me. But I'm awake, and now I'm better. Everyday I write a letter. To the Lassie that I love, May she always have God's love. And I sail across the oceans. Do not get any fancy notions. For when I win this World War 2 I am coming back to you. His address is Arthur Warder, "Patient," % Burke Institute, White Plains, New York.
